

other establishments; a village of two thousand inhabitants, situated on high banks, descending with a gentle declivity to the bold shores of the Maumee river. A railroad is also in the process of building, to be finished in October, extending from that place (said to be in Ohio) 30 miles, to Adrian, Lenawee Co., Michigan. They 'threaten' to have a daily line of steamboats from Buffalo, next year—and beyond that, the flood tide of their prosperity is not yet to be fathomed.

Manhattan is a place we know but little about, except a handsomely plotted map for a city, pretty near Toledo, bidding fair to be a rather close rival, and that our old friend and former copartner B. FRANKLIN SNEAD has started a press there. New places start up and grow so quick on the openings and prairies of this western hemisphere, that a failure to note them weekly, would throw us behind the intelligence of the age—that is, as matters now are; but when that vexed boundary question shall have been finally disposed of, we know not how we possibly can keep up—unless we shove a daily.

It will be seen, in the following circular from the secretary of the treasury, under the order of the president, that the receivers of public money throughout the United States, are to receive nothing but GOLD and SILVER in payment for public lands, after the 15th day of August next, except from actual settlers or bona fide residents, who are allowed the same indulgence heretofore extended, as to the kind of money received, up to the 15th day of December next. It is considered an important measure for the interests of our new state.

CIRCULAR.

To Receivers of Public Money, and to the Depository Banks.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, JULY 11, 1836.

In consequence of complaints which have been made of frauds, speculations and monopolies, in the purchase of the public lands, and the aid which is said to be given to effect those objects by excessive bank credits, and dangerous, if not partial facilities, through bank drafts and bank deposits, and the general evil influence likely to result to the public interests, and especially the safety of the great amount of money in the treasury, and the sound condition of the currency of the country from the further exchange of the national domain in this manner, and chiefly for bank credits and paper money, the President of the United States has given directions, and you are hereby instructed, after the 15th day of August next, to receive in payment of the public lands, nothing except what is directed by the existing laws, viz: gold and silver, and in proper cases, Virginia land scrip; provided, that till the 15th of December next, the same indulgence heretofore extended as to the kind of money received, may be continued for any quantity of land not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres to each purchaser who is an actual settler or bona fide resident in the state where the sales are made.

In order to ensure the faithful execution of these instructions, all Receivers are strictly prohibited from accepting for land sold, any draft, certificate, or other evidence of money, or deposit though for specie, unless signed by the treasurer of the United States, in conformity to the act of April 24, 1820. And each of those officers is required to annex to his monthly returns to this department, the amount of gold and silver respectively, as well as the bills received under the foregoing exception; and each deposit bank is required to annex to every certificate given upon a deposit of money, the proportions of it actually paid in gold, in silver, and in bank notes. All former instructions on these subjects, except as now modified, will be considered as remaining in full force.

The principal object of the president in adopting this measure being to repress alleged frauds, and to withhold any countenance or facilities in the power of the government from the monopoly of the public lands in the hands of speculators, to the injury of the actual settlers of the new states, and of emigrants in search of new homes, as well as to discourage the ruinous extension of bank issues and bank credits, by which those results are supposed to be prompted, your utmost vigilance is required, and relied on, to carry this order into complete execution.

LEVI WOODBURY,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Not belonging ourselves to the detraction body of the electioneering community, we are willing Gen. HARRISON should have all the credit that belongs to him. We look for other than mere military talents, to qualify a man for the highest office in the gift of the people. Besides, there are hundreds of gentlemen in the land, who would fill the office of county clerk admirably, that we should not suspect of having any very serious claims to the presidency of the United States. The following remarks were made at a public meeting in Ohio, not long since, by Gen. LYTLE, a supporter of Mr. VAN BUREN:

"It is true, that that gentleman (Gen. Harrison) and myself are now, as we have for sometime been, opposed to each other in some of our views, perhaps in most, as to the public men and measures of the day; but were we as widely separated as the poles, I can neither be made to forget his virtues, nor withhold from him just commendation for his many eminent services. Sir, I would be a traitor to my own nature, if I found myself capable of disparaging the claims of a public servant, so eminent, so well tried, and whose life has been a history of such usefulness and gallantry, as that of Gen. Harrison. Rather than rob the temples of that time-worn and justly honored public servant of a single laurel, I would choose, in justice and gratitude, to heap chaplets on his brow. Sir, the miserable spirit of partisan warfare and detraction, as displayed by most of the journals on both sides, may on all sides of the question, for the presidential succession, I deprecate from my heart. The spirit that will admit of no good, out of the mere party range, and which deems to infamy all that cannot reach his standards of party purity—a spirit which invades the peace and perverts the purposes of social harmony and union—all good men should frown upon. 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's,' is the injunction of Divine Wisdom; and in all cases where we depart from the principle, the degradation and the evil are to be measured only by the extent of its inaction."

We have understood, that Gen. Harrison was quite amiable in his social and domestic relations; kind, generous and affectionate in his disposition; easy and plain in his manners; cheerful in his intercourse with his friends and with strangers, and easily accessible to all. But what is there in all this, that may not as truly be said of Mr. Van Buren? or what man in the nation could claim the character of a gentleman, much less a high office, without such qualifications?

The book, from which the sweet poem on our first page is selected, is for sale at our book store. We have also, a work from the pen of the same charming author, entitled "Four Years in Great Britain—1831—35; in two volumes.

Fire in Rochester.—From the papers, we learn that the Hon. Jonathan Child's four story, marble Warehouse, opposite the Rochester House, Exchange-street, in which were several offices and mechanic's shops, a lyeum, and the boat office of the Buffalo, Detroit, Pilot, U. States, and Troy and Erie lines, was destroyed by fire, on the 13th inst. The fire commenced in an adjoining building, occupied as the office of the Telegraph line. Loss about 30,000, and but small insurance.

State Appointments for Michigan.—by the Governor and Senate, July 18. Wm. A. Fletcher, Chief Justice of the supreme court, and Judge for the 2d circuit; George Morell, Associate Justice of the supreme court, and Judge for the 1st circuit; Epaphroditus Ransom, Associate Justice of the supreme court, and Judge of the 1st circuit; Elton Farnsworth, Chancellor; Daniel Le Roy, Attorney General.

Niagara Falls Journal.—The first attempt to make types stand on end, amid the jarring and roar of that "ocean falling over a mountain," has been made, as appears from an ably conducted paper of this title, of the 18th inst. of superior typography and arrangement, by FRANCIS & WARD. The Journal finds its claims to public favor upon a literary rather than a political character. In proportion to its merits, will of course be its success; and it has already some choice contributors. Willis Gaylord Clark's muse, of June 28, 1836, breathes in it the following eight lines:

Here speaks the voice of God! Let man be dumb,
Nor with his vain aspirations hither come;
That voice which impels these hollow sounding floods,
And, like a Presence, hails the distant woods;
These groaning rocks! th' Almighty's finger piled:
For ages, here, his pointed bow has smiled,
Mocking the changes and the change of time—
Eternal—beautiful—serene—sublime!

Mr. Morse is succeeded in the Detroit Free Press establishment, by his late partner Mr. Bagg, and Mr. Ellis has sold his Monroe Sentinel establishment to A. Morton and Son.

A new and very important project.—A project is on foot to make the river navigable for the large size boats, up as far as this place, by means of slack water, and then construct a tow path to Jonesville, for canal boats, from which place a canal will be required fifteen miles long, to the head waters of the St. Joseph River of Maumee, thereby opening a water communication from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan, across the Peninsula. It is thought that the water privileges created by damming and locking both rivers will more than pay the expense of constructing the canal and a slack water navigation the whole distance. A company will petition the Legislature at its next session, for a charter to that effect.

TERMINATION OF THE CREEK WAR! We received yesterday Charleston papers to the morning of the 8th inst. inclusive, brought by the steam packet line which ply with so much regularity and expedition between that city, Norfolk and Baltimore. We have also Norfolk slips under date of the 19th inst. The capture of the noted Creek Indian Chief Jim Henry, of which there appears to be no doubt, will greatly hasten the termination of the hostilities in Georgia and Alabama. A large number of Creeks were already in the course of removal to the region west of the Mississippi. Gen. Joseph had taken in all about 1200 hostile Indians, and was on his march from Fort Mitchell to Long's plantation—the half way point between Columbus and Tuskegee.

A letter dated Augusta, July 6, says—"A report has reached our city, in what way I know not, that Judge R. N. Read and family, on a trip from St. Augustine to Tallahassee, have all been murdered by the Seminoles. I heard a part of a letter read the other day, from a member of the Judge's family, and a trip as above was spoken of. The circumstances give credit to the report, but I have not time to trace it." The Charleston Courier of the 8th, states that a steam boat has been chartered to proceed to George's Ferry, Black Creek, Florida, with three companies of U. S. troops which have lately arrived in that city.

From the Georgia Journal, July 5.

JIM HENRY TAKEN! Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Columbus, to his friend in this city, dated "July 2, 1836.

"News has just come to town, that the notorious Jim Henry is now in safe keeping within the pickets, at Fort Mitchell, and in irons. There is a Col. —, who has just come from the Fort, and says he saw the said Jim there; and I have no doubt that the news is correct, and it is the impression of all the town that it is true; the impression of all is a close, for Jim is the only one of the noted hostile dogs that was out. Eight were brought from Fort Mitchell yesterday, charged with various offenses, which can be proved against them; they will be shot or hung. About 2000 leave for Arkansas in a day or so, and the balance will have to follow in short time."

From the Middlesex Recorder, July 5.

From our private advice, we are led to anticipate the discharge of the Georgia troops, or the larger portion of them, in a few days. We understand that already 1700 of the Indians have been sent with a suitable guard to Montgomery, on their route to their destined home beyond the Mississippi. Others will follow with as much despatch as practicable, until the whole are removed from the limits of the state.

Our correspondent writes us from Columbus, dated the 24 (Saturday) that an express had arrived on the previous evening, at Fort Jones, from Gen. Patterson, with the intelligence that Jim Henry, who has led in most of the hostilities committed, had been taken on the day previous, (Friday) with about 150 others. They were captured by the friendly Indians, about 15 miles opposite, or a little above Fort Mitchell.

From the Augusta Courier, July 6.

A letter received at our Post Office last night, mentions that preparations are being made for the stage to run through the Creek Nation as usual, and in a few days the channel of intelligence south and west of Augusta, will be open as formerly.

You have heard of the capture of the famous Jim Henry. The following extract of a letter from a friend, may be relied upon. The letter bears date July 5.

The report of Jim Henry's surrender is true—he gave himself up to Jim Boy, (one of the leaders of the friendly Indians) on Friday last. Instead of being on the way to Florida, as was supposed, he was in the Creek nation, and but a few miles from Tuskegee. Near Mathla, together with 1500 other hostiles, including men, women, and children, were on the same day marched off to Arkansas. They are to travel all the way by steamboats from Montgomery, Alabama. The Creek difficulties are now supposed to be over.
